Vivaldi was born in Venice, Italy, in 1678. He studied violin with his father, Giovanni Battista Vivaldi, and later with other prominent Venetian musicians. He was ordained a priest in 1703, but he continued to pursue his musical career. He held several positions as a music director and composer for various churches and theaters in Venice.

Vivaldi is best known for his concertos, which are often characterized by their use of contrasting tempos and rhythms. He also wrote operas, sonatas, and other instrumental works. His most famous work is The Four Seasons, a set of four concertos that depict the different seasons of the year.

Vivaldi died in Vienna, Austria, in 1741. He was buried in a pauper's grave, but his music has since been rediscovered and is now performed by orchestras and musicians around the world.
