

Our Numbered Days: A Journey of Grief, Memory, and the End of Life

Our Numbered Days is a deeply personal and moving account of one woman's journey through grief after the loss of her husband. Written in lyrical and evocative prose, the book explores the complex emotions of loss, memory, and the search for meaning in the face of death.

The author, Claire Bidwell Smith, was just 39 years old when her husband, John, was diagnosed with a rare and aggressive form of cancer. In the months that followed, Claire and John faced the unimaginable together, navigating the complexities of the healthcare system, making difficult decisions about treatment, and grappling with the inevitable. Through it all, Claire kept a journal, writing about her experiences, her emotions, and her hopes for the future.
