- Tatting needle: This is a specialized needle with a fine tip and a large eye.
- Thread: Use a fine, strong thread that is suitable for tatting. Cotton or silk are traditional, but you can also use other types of thread, such as nylon or polyester.
- Scissors: You will need a pair of sharp scissors to cut your thread.
- Shuttle: A shuttle is used to hold your thread as you work. You can use a commercial shuttle or make your own.

There are two basic stitches used in needle tatting: the single knot and the double knot.

Single knot: To make a single knot, wrap the thread around the needle and pull it through the loop. Pull the working thread tight to secure the knot.

Double knot: To make a double knot, make a single knot, then wrap the thread around the needle a second time and pull it through the loop. Pull the working thread tight to secure the knot.

Once you have mastered the basic stitches, you can start to join them together to create more complex designs.

Joining: To join two pieces of tatting, simply make a single knot around one of the picots on each piece.

Finishing: To finish a piece of tatting, simply cut the thread and pull it through the last loop. You can then use a dab of glue to secure the knot.
